Boling Independent School District:

The possibilities that working together provides and the energy our stakeholders bring to the start of each school year makes it exciting. On behalf of Boling Independent School District I extend a sincere welcome to everyone! We are enthusiastic about the 2011-2012 School Year and the opportunities for the education of our students.

We are excited about our academic accomplishments. The Texas Education Agency recently published our Accountability Ratings and we are very proud of our results. The combined efforts of all campuses resulted in our District Rating of “Recognized” and Newgulf Elementary rated “Exemplary”! I commend our students, teachers, staff, and principals for a job well done!

The mission of Boling Independent School District is to prepare our children to successfully live and work in their changing future. Through a combined effort, we understand every child can learn and experience success. We can accomplish our mission through quality, equity, and accountability. Instruction must be provided at the highest level of quality. Educational opportunities and resources must be distributed equitably on the basis of student needs. The system must maintain accountability to demonstrate continuous improvement for all students. Such a system will ensure our children are well prepared for the changes and challenges of their future. As a community, our most important assets are our children. They deserve the best education we can provide. Their futures depend on that. Together we can work to accomplish the mission of providing educational excellence for all Boling Independent School District students.

This summer we have focused on staffing our schools; reviewing data while focusing on school improvement; cleaning, painting, and preparing our facilities; providing professional development; and developing a proposed budget for the upcoming year. We are prepared to begin the new school year and anticipate a great start.

While we recognize the challenge of current economic times for public education, our dedicated staff will continue to provide an emphasis on strong college readiness and academic growth for each student. Our administrators, teachers, and parents will work collaboratively in the best interest of our students. Success will occur if everyone works together to achieve the goals for the students of Boling Independent School District.

I truly appreciate the support I have received and look forward to working with everyone to enhance the education of our children. We have so much to be proud of at BISD. I am confident that Boling Independent School District will not only continue to provide an outstanding educational program for our students, but also provide them with new learning opportunities and successes.

Sincerely,

Wade Stidevent
